

IBM Shared University Research Award to the Department of Electronics & Computer Engineering

IBM Corporation has announced a Shared University Research Award for the Indian Institute of Technology Roorkee in recognition of the high value research that is being carried out in the department in the area of Information Management and Data Mining. The award comprises computing equipments and latest software and cash award for supporting the research activities in this area.