Manifesto

Name: Hera Asif Khan

Enrollment No.: 21916015

My name is Hera Asif Khan, a PhD scholar in 1st year in IIT Roorkee .I am running for the position of DRC. I have chosen this position because I find myself best suited in a research committee.

I would like to inform that I am already representing the scholars in three courses of my coursework. While working as a representative I have developed the skill of conveying the messages in a good manner and on time to all the scholars and Professors of my course. My fellow mates believe that I am an ideal candidate for this post and I believe that I can fulfil the responsibilities that will be assigned to me for them and for the department.

If elected I would aim to fulfil these objectives on my part:

Objectives:

- 1) To ensure that whether the research in the department following ethical standards or not in order to protect the participants involved in the research.
- 2) To check and apprise the progress reports of the research by the scholars time to time in order to avoid the last time pressure which generally leads to the bad mental and physical health effects.
- 3) To organise monthly social activities among scholars to create kindness, spread happiness and improved mental and physical health which will also help in higher efficiency.

Thank you for organising these elections, I am hoping to hearing from you soon.

2. Name: AKASH PAL
Enrollment No.: 21916002

Greetings colleagues,

I am a first-year Ph.D. student in Economics in the department. I have been part of departmental activities and worked in many capacities during my postgraduate here. I represented our department as the joint secretary for Cognizance-2018 which hosted multiple events successfully. I was part of the organizing team of several other lectures and events in the department.

With my experience, If given a chance, these would be my crucial agenda:

- Increase Society Integration: Our department is known for its diversity of programs offered to students. We have scholars from the Economics, English, Psychology, and Sociology disciplines. Despite its unique feature, our students lack representation in the campus activities. We need a society/club which represents our interests and our department on the campus.
- Promote Graduate/Postgraduate Involvement: We now have both graduate and postgraduate programs in our department. Therefore, we need to build a platform that allows us to work together and promote a collaborative culture of research and development in the department.
- Reforms in Wednesday Talk: The Wednesday talk has been our department's signature event for a long time; however, as the department grows, it needs specific changes to maintain its relevance as we look into the future.
- Need for our Newsletter: The newsletters are a vital component for effective email marketing and branding. It keeps our contacts up-to-date with our latest research and developments in our department.

Last but not least, the installation of Coffee cum Tea Vending Machine in the department's premises keeps us all afresh and focused on our research. So, no more going out of the department for a break!

Thank You for taking the time to read this manifesto.

KEEP SMILING BEHIND THE MASK!

Regards,

Akash Pal, Ph.D. Economics, (1st year)

Candidate for the post of student representative for DRC
